God is on the Move

2025 Impact Report

A year of answered prayers, transformed lives, and Gospel advance — through the courage of local leaders, the faith of partners like you, and the unstoppable power of God at work.

We're living in the middle of the largest Gospel movement in history... and most people don't even know it.

Everywhere you look, God is opening doors no one thought could be opened. He's moving through local believers who've said "yes" to His call — often at great risk — to take the name of Jesus where it has never been heard.

One of those stories begins on a small cluster of remote islands in South Asia, places long considered unreachable.

> A few years ago, God placed two separate burdens on the hearts of some local leaders, Ranveer and Thomas.* God burdened Ranveer for this specific region. He burdened Thomas for a specific people. Then He brought them together with one clear mission:*
>
> > To reach the unreached peoples scattered across these islands, where access is severely restricted, travel is extremely dangerous, and the Gospel has rarely been spoken. There was no roadmap — only prayer.
>
> Through persistent intercession, relational wisdom, and God-given creativity, the team slowly began making inroads. They built trust with local contacts, found ways to begin spiritual conversations, and identified opportunities to get God's Word on the islands. None of these efforts guaranteed access, but God used each step to open hearts and soften the ground.
>
> Then came the breakthrough.

"Prayer in motion: Local believers intercede for their unreached neighbors."

In one of their first real opportunities to share the Gospel on the islands, God led them to a single home where members of three different unreached people groups were living under one roof. They prayed, shared Scripture, and watched as the entire extended family believed in Jesus together.

From that home, disciples began to multiply. Churches were planted. Whole families were transformed.

And today, more than 30 growing fellowships are gathering across the islands, each one a living testimony that no barrier can stop the Gospel.

This is what we mean when we say, "God is on the move."

It's not strategy or strength that makes this possible; it's the power of God working through courageous men and women who pray, obey, and go.

As you read this report, I hope you'll see that same story unfolding again and again across every region — all of it is evidence of God's hand at work through your partnership.

The Church Is Growing Faster Than the Gap

Over 3.4 billion people still have little or no access to the Gospel.

But God is on the move—and with your support, local leaders are closing the gap.

"The front lines look different than before. Local leaders are now leading with burning hearts for their region."

— John Burrough, CEO

"Partners excels at spotting where God is already moving and then pouring fuel on the fire!"

— Jennifer Holloran, Board Chair

From remote villages to sprawling cities, God is multiplying His Church through believers who've counted the cost and said yes to Jesus.

This is our moment to stand with them, fuel the movement, and keep closing the gap.

Bold Faith. Radical Love. Powerful Witness.

Across East and West Africa, the Gospel is advancing in places long marked by conflict, Islamic extremism, and deep spiritual resistance. In regions where violence has torn families apart and fear has shaped daily life, local believers are multiplying disciples, planting new fellowships, and sharing the hope of Jesus.

One powerful example comes from a region, where one of our ministry partners is equipping believers from unreached people groups to become disciple-makers. Among the trainees was a man whose brother was murdered by Islamic extremists.

Once filled with hatred, he encountered God's mercy while studying Scripture — and the Spirit transformed his heart. Today, he prays daily for the very people who persecuted his family and has already led two Muslim households to faith in Christ.

These gatherings are transforming lives as believers continue to share Christ through acts of courageous forgiveness.

"Terrorists killed my brother. I hated all Muslims... until God changed my heart. Now, I pray for them daily. I've already led two Muslim families to Jesus, and I'm asking God to save the men who killed my brother."

— Armando, West Africa

Kingdom Builders, Who Also Lay Brick

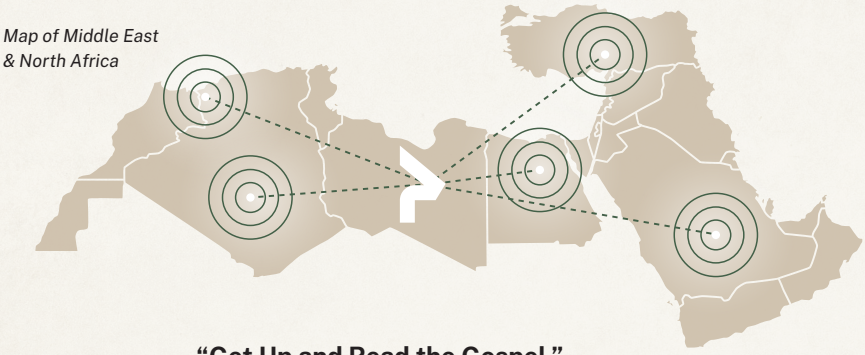

In East and West Africa, believers see themselves first and foremost as Kingdom builders. And one powerful way they advance the Gospel is through their daily trade. Small Business Development training is equipping believers such as bricklayers, seamstresses, vendors, and farmers to use their job skills as Kingdom tools.

As one local leader shares, "God has given me the skill of bricklaying. Now I see my trade not only as work but as ministry. I will build homes and build the Kingdom."

God is on the Move in the Middle East and North Africa

Amid rampant conflict, Jesus is revealing Himself in dreams, restoring whole families, and strengthening believers who follow Him with courageous resilience.

"Get Up and Read the Gospel."

In a quiet North African village, a follow-up team visited a Muslim family, shared the Gospel, and left behind a copy of Scripture. One daughter listened politely but held tightly to her Quranic prayers. That night, everything changed.

Jesus appeared to her in a dream and told her to get up and read the Gospel. She resisted—explaining that she had never learned to read. He came a second time, urging her to read. Again she refused. On the third encounter, His voice carried a weight she couldn't ignore: "Get up and read the Gospel."

She rose, opened the Bible… and read fluently.

Awestruck, she woke her family and recounted what had happened. Convinced by the miracle they witnessed through her, the entire household surrendered their lives to Jesus.

Where the Gospel seems closed, God Himself is opening doors no one can shut.

When the Gospel Reaches a War Zone

Across the Middle East and North Africa, armed conflict is a daily reality. But even the recent war in Gaza could not quench the faith of young believers in the region. As missiles fell and gunshots erupted, many gathered in prayer, discipleship, and Bible study—finding courage in the book of Acts and learning to share their faith boldly. In the darkest moments, the Church is shining with supernatural resilience.

"We are grateful for the countless ways God has been faithful, and we press on, trusting that the work He has begun will continue to bear fruit for His Kingdom."

Springs in the Desert

"I will make rivers flow on barren heights... I will turn the desert into pools of water, and the parched ground into springs."
—Isaiah 41:18

In one of the most spiritually barren and tightly restricted corners of Central Asia, God is doing exactly what He promised, bringing Living Water to a desert land.

A small ministry team began praying and visiting this remote region, unsure whether hearts long hardened by isolation would respond. Then God moved. Sardor was among the first to believe, and the transformation in his life was unmistakable. Joy replaced heaviness. Openness replaced silence. His wife, Aqil, soon surrendered her life to Jesus after witnessing the profound change in him.

Aqil began sharing Christ boldly throughout her village. Groups started gathering in homes; believers devoured Scripture. Today, more than 30 new Christians are boldly following Jesus.

In a land long dry, the springs are beginning to flow.

Faith Spreads Faster Than Fear

In a quiet village in Central Asia, God is building His Church one household at a time. Pritam, a Turkman believer, came to Christ through the quiet witness of his wife — but the ripple spread quickly.

He shared Jesus with relatives across the region, and in a single season, his mother, siblings, grandmother, and uncle all believed.

The next year, his close friend and his friend's wife also came to Christ — and today she boldly shares the Gospel throughout her community. In a region where ministry is risky, house churches are multiplying faster than fear can stop them.

"We see God's hand at work in the perseverance of our local leaders. They serve quietly, faithfully, and courageously, often at great personal risk. We believe that the Gospel is still advancing."

A Letter from the Battlefield

My name is Ren, and I serve as an elder in a small church in south-western China.

I want to tell you about my dear friend Delong, who has now spent three years in prison for his faith. Though he is behind bars and I remain free, I believe we serve on the same battlefield — one combat team following the same Commander, strengthened by the same prayers and sustained by the same grace.

The authorities hoped imprisonment would break him. Instead, Delong has become a lighthouse.

His courage has steadied weary pastors, strengthened frightened believers, and exposed the emptiness of the intimidation meant to silence us. Even from his cell, his poems carry hope across China, reminding us that justice does not come from earthly courts, and that true freedom can never be chained.

Often I find myself wishing I could join him behind those bars — not out of despair, but out of fellowship. Yet God has kept me here, continuing the work outside.

I know that when our fellowship worships, Delong worships too — under the same Lord, with the same unshakable hope.

Please pray for him, and all who suffer for the name of Jesus. Let their stories inspire us to walk boldly in our own faith, to serve God without hesitation, and be ever vigilant in lifting them up before the throne of grace!

Whispers That Light the Dark

In a village under constant surveillance, Hong leads a small house church with courageous tenderness—praying for every member, guiding young believers, and holding worship gatherings in the shadows. When authorities shut down a planned youth weekend, she refused to be discouraged: "The meeting may be canceled," she said, "but the hope isn't."

Now her church meets quietly, online when necessary, and always with deep resolve. Every whispered hymn becomes a light shining in the darkness.

Map of East Asia

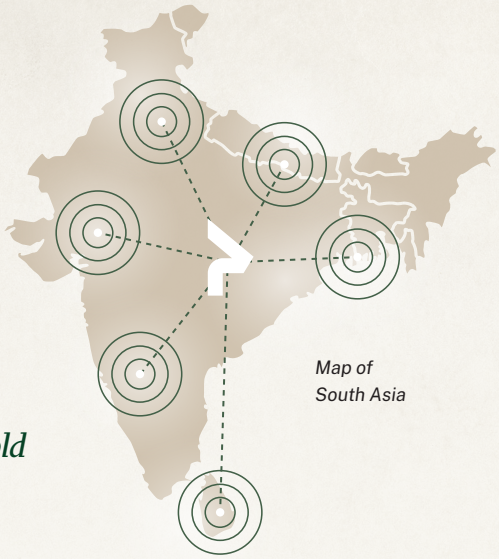

"If we can't meet in large groups, we'll meet in twos and threes. If we can't meet in person, we'll gather online. They can't extinguish our faith, and they can't steal our hope."

Delivered by the God of the Impossible

In a small village in northern India, a young woman named Amvika lay trapped in a battle no one could explain. Devoted to idol practices, she suddenly fell under severe demonic attack—unable to eat or even walk. Hospitals offered no answers. Her family watched helplessly as she grew weaker by the day.

Then a neighbor called a local believer who arrived with a group of young people from a nearby church. They prayed over her and shared the Gospel. As soon as Amvika placed her faith in Jesus, the demon left her immediately.

Now fully healed, Amvika boldly shares her testimony and prays passionately for her family's salvation. She knows beyond the shadow of a doubt that God can do the impossible, and she is leading many in her village toward Christ.

A Simple Booklet. A Family Changed. A Movement Begun.

Daivi had spent her life in ritual and superstition — until her daughter brought home a small booklet of Christian testimonies. One by one, the whole family read it. Moved by what they discovered, they soon embraced Jesus together. Their home now hosts a weekly Bible study, and through their faithful witness, three additional families have come to believe. God used a single booklet to launch a quiet yet powerful movement of hope in their community.

For the Sake of the One

In a village wary of outsiders, one of our ministry partners has spent months sharing the Gospel with quiet faithfulness. Suspicion is high, conversations are cautious, and every visit is watched closely.

But Suwito and his team press on because they know every life is worth the effort.

After months of sharing the Good News with no response, one man finally came to faith in Christ. Despite standing alone in his community, this man boldly chose to be baptized by a local church planter. Heaven rejoiced over that one lost sheep found, and the first believer in this village is now growing in Christ.

Hard soil may seem unyielding. But the Shepherd is seeking the lost.

And in Southeast Asia, He is finding them one by one. Even when progress seems slow, God is moving — one heart, one household, one village at a time.

From Addiction to New Life

Across the Mekong region, 48 local churches are caring for hundreds of young people battling heroin addiction and alcoholism. These men and women live within church communities for a two-year restoration process — and their hunger for God's Word is deep. Even local police who once dismissed the effort now quietly allow it to continue as lives change before their eyes.

Map of Southeast Asia

"Even the police now turn a blind eye and allow the churches to continue — and this act of love has brought a very positive impact on the community."

Your Generosity at Work Around the World

Because of you, the Gospel advanced this year in places most of us may never see firsthand. Your giving equipped local leaders, strengthened persecuted believers, planted new fellowships, and helped close the gap among communities with little or no access to the Good News.

This year's financial overview represents more than numbers—it reflects faithfulness. Every gift was stewarded toward frontline ministry that is transforming lives through the courage and obedience of indigenous believers.

Thank you for investing in Kingdom work that will bear fruit for generations. Your partnership is not simply funding programs, it's fueling a Gospel movement.

Your Prayers Fuel Breakthrough

This report confirms God's faithfulness to move in power when His people pray. Every life transformed, every heart emboldened, every stronghold overthrown happened because God responded to the heartfelt cries of believers just like you.

So please keep praying!

- Pray for boldness among our brothers and sisters facing persecution, that God would not only protect our partners on the ground but grow His Kingdom through the faithful witness of these brave believers.
- Pray for Gospel multiplication as newly trained disciple-makers plant churches, launch into new regions, and bring the hope of Christ to their communities.
- Pray for Spirit-led revelation, that Jesus would continue making Himself known through dreams, the spread of His Word, and the faithful witness of local believers.
- Pray for the Holy Spirit to raise up new leaders deeply rooted in Scripture who will carry the Gospel to unreached communities and new generations.
- Pray for deliverance for those oppressed by spiritual darkness, asking God to break strongholds and overthrow the enemy's power in people's lives.
- Pray for courage in quiet places as believers in authoritative states gather in whispers, navigate surveillance, and continue discipling others to fuel the growth of the underground Church.
- Pray for radical love to disarm hate as believers in violent and war-torn regions seek to bring the Gospel to the very groups that persecute them.

"Pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the Lord's people."
